What happens at the academy?

Saturday morning begins with a classroom session in which we discuss techniques that will be used throughout the weekend. You will meet the instructors and discuss basic safety, riding techniques, flags, and proper track entrance and exit.

After the classroom session students will be divided in three groups, beginner, intermediate and advanced. Instructors will lead students on a walk around the track while racers show students the proper lines. The purpose of the track walk is to learn the layout of the track and the best line you'll want to follow around it.

The track portion of the academy begins Saturday after lunch. You'll be on the track for the remainder of Saturday and all day Sunday. Each group rotates through with 15-minute track sessions. The instructors will show you the way and observe you as you ride. If at any time you feel like the group you are in is too fast or too slow you can ask your instructors to move you to a faster or slower
